3rd ICSF 2025

Innovative solutions for resilient fisheries and aquaculture

5-7 September 2025

The 3rd International Conference on Sustainable Fisheries (ICSF) 2025 is a premier global forum bringing together researchers, policy makers, industry leaders, and community stakeholders to discuss the latest advancements in sustainable fisheries and aquaculture. Ever-increasing demand for fish, resource sustainability, equitable access, climate change and associated challenges warrant transformative solutions. This year's conference will focus on innovative technologies, best practices, and policies aimed at fostering resilient ecosystems, ensuring food security, empowering fishing communities, and fostering collaboration among global stakeholders. The conference intends to promote significant dialogues and creative approaches that will mold a resilient and inclusive future for aquatic food systems by coordinating with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) and FAO's "Blue Transformation" initiative. We invite you to participate in the 3rd ICSF 2025 in Sylhet, the daughter of nature.
